

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES

Agricultural Entomology

The aim of this module is the introduction in the science of Entomology emphasizing of insect pests damaging for the crops and their commodities. Thematic topics on insect morphology, anatomy, physiology, reproduction, development and taxonomy are addressed. A special attention is given on taxa with significant importance in agriculture. Finally, an introduction to population and ecological aspects is provided.